PARISH LIFE

The Original Unity of Man and Woman- The LORD GOD said, "It is not good for man to be alone. I will make a helper suitable for him. Genesis 2:18

Respect
Life

The words of Genesis, "It is not good that the man should be alone" are a prelude to the narrative of the creation of woman. Together with this narrative, the sense of original solitude becomes part of the meaning of original unity, the key point of which seems to be precisely the words of Genesis 2:24. Christ referred to them in his talk with the Pharisees: "A man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh." (Matt 19:5) If Christ quoted these words referring to the "beginning," it is opportune for us to clarify the meaning of that original unity, which has its roots in the fact of the creation of man as male and female.

The narrative of the first chapter of Genesis does not know the problem of man's original solitude. Man is "male and female" right from the beginning. On the contrary, the Yahwist text of the second chapter authorizes us, in a way, to think first only of the man since, by means of the body, he belongs to the visible world but goes beyond it. Then, it makes us think of the same man, but through the dualism of sex.

Corporality and sexuality are not completely identified. In its normal constitution, the human body bears within it the signs of sex and its male or female by its nature. However, the fact that man is a "body" belongs to structure of personal subject more deeply than the fact that in his somatic (i.e., body, bodily, physical) constitution he is also male or female. Therefore, the meaning of "original solitude," which can be referred simply to "man," is substantially prior to the meaning of original unity. The latter is based on masculinity and femininity, as if on two different "incarnations," (i.e., living forms) that is on two ways of "being a body" of the same human being created "in the image of God" (Gn 1:27). Let us add that up to a certain point, the second narrative of the creation of man keeps the form of a dialog between man and God-Creator. That is manifested above all in that state in which man ('adam) is definitively created as male and female ('is-'issah). consciousness.

FOURTH SUNDAY OF EASTER

PARISH LIFE

A MESSAGE FROM HAITI

Dear Fr. Martin and Lois,

It is my pleasure to write to you today in order to invite you to the inauguration (dedication) of our school "Ecole Technique de St. Marc". You have been invested in the future of our youth; therefore, your presence will be highly appreciated by all of us and meaningful. The date retained for this event is May 1, 2018. I count on your presence. In Christ's love, fraternally yours.

Mgr. Venel Suffard.

St. Marc Tech School opened in January with 75 students and they are still enrolling at this time. How pleased God must be for the love our parish has shared through generosity to make this school a reality. Father Martin is unable to attend the dedication; however, Lois Shinkle would like to attend and encourages anyone in the parish who might be interested in going to join her. If you would like to be a part of this event and represent Saint James, please contact Lois as soon as possible by phone at 270-765-7559.

TODAY'S SCRIPTURES

Fourth Sunday of Easter

First Reading: Acts 4:8-12

Second Reading: 1 John 3:1-2

Gospel: John 10:11-18

Our world often tells us that we should be strong, secure and self-sufficient on our own. We may be able to do this in certain areas of our lives, but not when it comes to salvation. Jesus is the Good Shepherd who is our strength, our protection and our salvation.

NEXT WEEK'S SCRIPTURES

CONNECT. EDUCATE. INSPIRE.

"I am the good shepherd. A good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep. A hired man sees a wolf coming and leaves the sheep and runs away.... This is because he works for pay and has no concern for the sheep." John 10:11-13

Unlike the hired hand, the good steward feels personal responsibility for the Owner's property. The image of the good shepherd teaches us that stewardship is not about money, but about responsibility and commitment.
